Re: Students and Staff Who Excel

Date: September 7, 2010

At the meeting on September 13, 2010, the Glenbrook United Special Olympics inaugural team will be recognized during our Students and Staff Who Excel segment.

On September 1, the inaugural District 225 Special Olympics team kicked off their season with a volleyball game. This is the first year that District 225 is participating in the Special Olympics. A combination of students from each of our schools comprise the Glenbrook United team and represent District 225 at numerous sporting events in the surrounding suburbs.

Students participating on the Glenbrook United volleyball team include: Kayla Buss, Yaseen Fawzi, Maddy Halamaj, Ryan Jennings, Bryan Nash, Patrick Nicholson, Ryan Manso, Sean Manso, Katie McManus, Logan Pitman, Daniel Raviv and Karmesha White.

The Special Olympics provides students with positive opportunities to interact through teamwork and sportsmanship. The two main goals are to have fun and to compete to the best of one's ability. Team sponsors Pa'al Joshi, Kim Petty and Terry Harris and a cadre of volunteers coordinate the events.

Team sponsor Pa'al Joshi and members of the Glenbrook United inaugural volleyball team will be accepting the award.
